

Milkana BraceEVP, Consumer Product

Milkana Brace has served as Remitly's Vice President of Consumer Product and Design since October 2022 and has held previous leadership roles at the company since May 2021. Prior to Remitly, Milkana founded Jargon, a low-code conversational apps platform, and served as its Chief Executive Officer from December 2017 to May 2021. Before founding Jargon, Milkana served as Senior Director of Global Travel Product and Technology for Groupon, Inc. from December 2012 to January 2015, and held various positions at Expedia, Inc., an Expedia Group company, between 2004 to 2012, including most recently Senior Director, Technology - Supply Optimization, Analytics, and Packages. Milkana holds an M.B.A. from The Foster School of Business at the University of Washington and a B.A. in Economics from McGill University.